ASIATEL OUTSOURCING

Asiatel Outsourcing Limited
Investor Tear Sheet

Business Overview

Asiatel Outsourcing Limited ("Asiatel") is a profitable and rapidly growing Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) provider headquartered in Metro Manila, Philippines. Since its founding in 2016, Asiatel has served over 100 international accounts and currently supports approximately 25 active small- and mid-sized enterprise (SME) accounts. The company is known for delivering high-quality, cost-effective customer engagement and back-office solutions across sectors such as telecom, insurance, fintech, and technology. Its client base spans nine countries, including Canada, the U.S., Australia, the U.K., and the Philippines.

Operating from a 6,500 sq. ft. facility with more than 400+ full-time employees, Asiatel has consistently exceeded financial targets, reporting CAD$4.6 million in revenue for FY2024, outperforming its forecast of CAD$3.3 million.

The company is now preparing to accelerate its next phase of growth through a strategic go-public transaction and capital raise.

Growth Catalysts
PHASE 1

Canadian Sales Office Launch

Asiatel plans to establish a Canadian sales office to drive client acquisition across North America, a region that represents a significant share of the Philippines' BPO market. This office will act as a strategic gateway, enabling Asiatel to capitalize on new opportunities and grow its client base. A Canadian business presence is expected to accelerate revenue growth by providing North American accounts with a direct point of contact, building trust, and improving communication.

Strategic Partnership with fileAI: A Catalyst for Value Creation

Asiatel Outsourcing's strategic partnership with fileAI marks a pivotal shift toward becoming a next-generation, AI-powered BPO platform. By embedding fileAI's proprietary AI engine across its operations, Asiatel is driving automation, real-time quality assurance, and predictive resource management thus unlocking significant margin expansion and efficiency gains. This transformation supports a forecasted valuation range of CAD$40M–CAD$60M by FY2026 and a potential valuation uplift to 6–8x EV/Revenue multiples, enhancing its post-listing story for institutional investors and enterprise clients alike. Beyond internal optimization, the alliance with fileAI accelerates Asiatel's global expansion across North America and Asia, leveraging fileAI's established presence and innovative AI solutions to penetrate high-value verticals like Finance & Accounting, Insurance, and Fintech. Together, Asiatel and fileAI are creating a differentiated, future-ready outsourcing platform with strong investor appeal and a clear path to scalable global growth.

Expansion of Delivery Capacity

Asiatel will allocate a significant portion of its capital raise to expand service infrastructure and operational capacity in the Philippines, enabling the company to serve more accounts and take on larger mandates across the telecom, fintech, insurance, and tech sectors. This growth will support the scaling of existing contracts and the pursuit of new enterprise opportunities.

Together, these initiatives are expected to improve efficiency, accelerate service delivery, and strengthen Asiatel's competitive position in the global BPO market.

Strategic Partnerships and Niche Services

Asiatel plans to broaden its market presence by expanding into high-value, niche BPO verticals through strategic partnerships and service diversification. The company will introduce specialized programs in accounting, paralegal support, and investor relations—areas with strong outsourcing demand and attractive margins.

These offerings will not only open new revenue streams but also deepen client engagement, positioning Asiatel as a flexible, full-service BPO partner for SMEs seeking more than traditional voice and back-office support.

AI Integration to Drive Efficiency and New Offerings

Following its RTO and capital raise, Asiatel will launch a robust AI integration program aimed at transforming operational efficiency and service delivery. This initiative includes deploying multiple AI platforms and forming strategic partnerships with leading AI providers to access emerging technologies and tailor solutions to client needs. The program will focus on automating workflows, enhancing customer engagement, improving performance analytics, and enabling new AI-powered service lines. These advancements are expected to lower operating costs, boost agent productivity, and expand profit margins—positioning AI as a central pillar in Asiatel's long-term growth strategy.

Comprehensive In-House Investor Relations Campaign

Asiatel will launch an in-house omnichannel IR program to boost investor awareness. While peers typically outsource similar campaigns at CAD$30,000/month, Asiatel will leverage its own BPO resources to deliver a comprehensive investor relations program at a fraction of the cost, enhancing efficiency, maintaining message control, and supporting stronger valuation multiples through improved market visibility and liquidity.

PHASE 2

Launch IR Division

Negotiations are being finalized with a North American-based investor relations firm, specializing in providing investor relations and corporate communications for micro-cap public companies listed on North American publicly listed companies. Discussions are also underway with an Asia-based firm to assist Asian companies in gaining North American exposure. Individually, and/or together, these partnerships form a strong, synergistic model serving public companies across both regions.

BPO Acquisitions

Asiatel intends to pursue strategic acquisitions of niche BPO firms generating CAD$1–3M in annual revenue, using share-swap structures. The initial focus will be on acquiring a 51% controlling interest while maintaining the acquired company's operational independence. Full ownership will be phased in over a two-year period. Target geographies include China, Singapore, Bangladesh, and Nepal—markets selected for their complementary language capabilities and potential to accelerate revenue growth and regional diversification.

Valuation Outlook

- Comparable TSX.V Multiples:
  - EV/Revenue: 4.5x – 6.5x

- Implied Valuation Ranges:
  - Estimated Valuation adjusted to reflect increased revenue of CAD$4.6M
    CAD$20.7M – CAD$29.9M

  - Based on FY2025 Revenue of CAD$7.0M:
    CAD$31.5M – CAD$45.5M

- Reference Valuation

  - Independent valuation provided by RwE Growth Partners: CAD$8.0M (based on earlier FY2024 revenue forecast of CAD$3.3M; actuals exceeded this at CAD$4.6M)

  - With Asiatel now achieving 39% higher revenue than the original forecast and executing a CAD$1M concurrent financing, the implied market-based multiples suggest substantial valuation upside from the RwE baseline.

  - The valuation outlook is expected to scale upward following a successful execution of the North American expansion strategy, AI integration, as well as implementation of other key initiatives.
